Federal Perspective

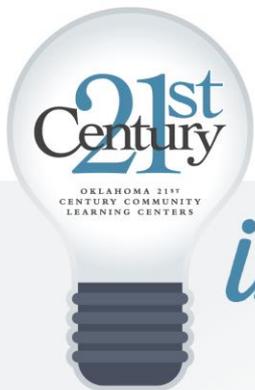

Purpose: To establish or expand COMMUNITY learning centers that provide:

- Students with academic enrichment, including providing tutorial service to help students (particularly students in high-poverty areas and those who attend low-performing schools) meet State and local student performance standards in core academic subjects, such as reading and math;
- Students with a broad array of additional services, programs and activities that are designed to reinforce and complement the regular academic program; and
- Offer families of students served by community learning centers opportunities for literacy and related educational development.

Something that is bubbling up within me...

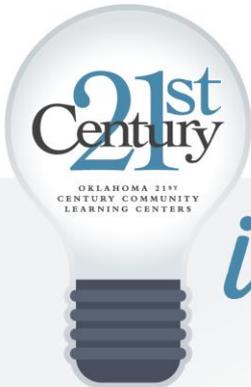

Something that keeps going around in my head...

These two things square with my beliefs...

I've been wondering...
