Academic standards writing teams gather feedback from education stakeholders

Posted by SDEmedia on Thu, 10/15/2015 - 3:51pm

The Oklahoma State Department of Education (OSDE) and the writing teams charged with developing Oklahoma's academic standards for English language arts and mathematics have been soliciting feedback from a spectrum of education stakeholders.

Throughout October, the standards-writing teams and OSDE staffers have received critiques of the third draft of the standards.

"This has been a thorough and comprehensive process," said State Superintendent of Public Instruction Joy Hofmeister. "I am confident that, when complete, it will conclude with strong standards to help ensure college- and career-readiness."

In an effort to produce exceptional standards that will prepare students for higher education and 21st-century careers, the OSDE has gathered comments from thousands of people at town halls and school district visits, in surveys and focus groups, and via content reviews, webinars and conferences.

In addition, many districts throughout Oklahoma have held "feedback parties" in which educators, administrators and parents review drafts of the standards. Cordell, Edmond, Elgin, Lawton and Tahlequah are among the districts that have held these gatherings.
